Prof Nicholas M. Odhiambo holds a PhD (Economics) degree from the University of Stellenbosch (South Africa). His research profile is broad, rich and multifaceted. His research has made a significant contribution to the scholarly body of knowledge. In the past 22 years, he has published a number of papers in various international journals. Of these publications, more than 330 articles have been published in more than 140 reputable/peer-reviewed/refereed journals. In addition, he has authored a book, ten (10) book chapters (including seven provisionally accepted chapters), and another co-edited book by Routledge is currently undergoing review. He has also presented more than 30 papers at various international conferences/institutions worldwide. More than 300 of his publications are either single-authored or co-authored with only one author, thereby making his individual contribution to the scholarly body of knowledge significant.

Prof Odhiambo is currently ranked among the top economics authors in the world by IDEAS/RePEc, the largest bibliographic database dedicated to Economics (hosted by the Research Division of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, USA). According to RePEc/IDEAS (July 2022), he is ranked number 31 worldwide based on the Number of Works (<https://ideas.repec.org> – Accessed on 12 August 2022). In Africa, Prof Odhiambo is ranked number three (3). He is also the second most-cited economics author in Africa (see <https://ideas.repec.org/top/top.africa.html> - Accessed on 12 August 2022). His Google Scholar h-index and i10-index are currently 48 and 161, respectively with total citations of 10 012 (as of October 2022); while his Scopus h-Index, based on 260 publications, is 30 (as of October 2022).

In a study conducted by Ahmad et al. (2020), which was published in a top energy journal (Energy Economics), Prof Odhiambo was also ranked number one (i.e., the leading researcher) among the top 20 authors in the world in the energy-growth nexus research when average per year fractional citations were considered for authors with a minimum of five publications (see <https://www.sciencedirect.com/science/article/pii/S0140988319304396> – page 9).

Also, according to Google Scholar citation metrics, he is currently listed as having the highest number of citations among all researchers under the ‘macroeconomic policy’ field (see https://scholar.google.co.za/citations?view_op=search_authors&hl=en&mauthors=label:macroeconomic_policy – Accessed 29 September 2022).

Prof Odhiambo has received numerous awards and research grants from a number of institutions, including the African Economic Research Consortium, Organization for Social Science Research in Eastern and Southern Africa (OSSREA), University of Stellenbosch, University of Fort Hare, National Research Foundation (NRF) – South Africa, and University of South Africa.

Prof Odhiambo’s awards from the University of South Africa (UNISA) alone currently exceed fourteen (14); and they include, amongst others: the 2011 Chancellor’s Award for Excellence in Research; the 2010 UNISA Top Achiever’s Award; the Dean’s Research Award in 2008; the College of Economic and Management Sciences (CEMS) Research Awards (2009-2018), UNISA 3-Year Research Chair Grant (2013-2018), UNISA Special Projects Grant for Macroeconomic Policy Analysis (2018-2021), CEMS Research Chair Grant for Macroeconomic Policy Analysis (2021). Prof Odhiambo has produced the highest accumulated research outputs in the College of Economic and Management Sciences (CEMS) at the University of South Africa for approximately 15 years (i.e., since 2007), and in many instances, e.g., in 2012, 2014, 2015, 2016, 2019, 2020, etc., he produced the largest number of publication outputs in the entire university.

Prof Odhiambo is the founding editor and Editor-in-Chief of the newly established journal entitled “Journal of Economic Policy and Management Issues (JEPMS) – ISSN: ISSN: 2958-6313. He is also currently serving as Associate Editor: 1) Journal of African Development (Pen State University Press, USA) and 2) Managing Global Transitions (University of Primorska Press). He is also currently a member of International Advisory Board/Editorial Board Member of various internationally recognised journals, including: 1) Journal of African Business (by Taylor & Francis); 2) African Journal of Economic and Management Sciences (by Emerald Publishing Limited); 3) Journal of Developing Areas (by the Tennessee State University College of Business, USA); 4) Economics, Management and Financial Markets (by Addleton Academic Publishers, USA); 5) African Journal of Economic Review (by the Open University of Tanzania); 6) Journal of Economics and Development (by Emerald Publishing Limited); 7) Journal of Self-Governance and Management Economics (by Addleton Academic Publishers, USA); and 8) Heliyon - Business and Economics. He has also served as Guest Editor for 1) Energy Exploration & Exploitation (by SAGE), 2) Journal of Policy Research in Tourism, Leisure and Events (by Taylor & Francis), 3) Telecommunications Policy (by Elsevier), and 4) African Journal of Economic and Management Sciences (AJEMS) – By Emerald Publishers. In addition, he is currently serving as the Editor of 1) UNISA Economic Research Working Paper Series, which he developed in 2015 (<https://uir.unisa.ac.za/handle/10500/18727>); and 2) African Economic and Social Research Institute (AESRI) Working Paper Series, which he developed in 2021 (<https://econpapers.repec.org/paper/afawpaper/>).

Prof Odhiambo’s other scholarly research /academic citizenship activities include but are not limited to being: 1) Member of the Scientific Committee – African Finance Journal annual conferences; 2) Network Member – Global Development Network; 3) Member - The Economic Society of South Africa; 4) Member - African Finance and Economics Association (AFEA, USA); 5) Member – Organisation for Social Science Research in Eastern and Southern Africa (OSSREA); 6) Network Member (Expert)– UNESCO Science Lab; 7) Network Member - African Scientist; and 8) Member – International Atlantic Economic Society, USA, amongst others. Prof Odhiambo is a Lifetime Fellow of the African Academy of Sciences – AAS (the continent's apex science academy) and a fellow the Royal Statistical Society (UK).

Owing to his expertise, Prof Odhiambo has been appointed to serve as: 1) Technical Advisor for a higher education research project - Financial and Fiscal Commission (FFC) – South Africa; 2) External reviewer for the Economic and Social Research Council (ESRC), UK; 3) Independent reviewer for the Academy of Science of South Africa (ASSAf) – Department of Higher Education and Training (DHET) accredited journals; 4) External reviewer for promotion/appointment (associate professor rank) at the University of Minnesota Duluth (USA); 5) External reviewer for associate/professor positions at the University of Pretoria (South Africa); 6) External reviewer for associate professor position at the University of Dar es Salaam (Tanzania); 7) External reviewer for senior academic positions at the University of Ghana Business School; 8) External reviewer – African Academy of Sciences – for African Research Initiative for Scientific Excellence, pilot programme (ARISE-PP; 9) One of the international judges for research competition – appointed by the International Atlantic Economic Society, Boston, USA; 10) Sole Adjudicator for ESSA Founders Medal Award for PhD Degree Thesis – appointed by the Economic Society of South Africa ESSA for three year; and 11) External examiner for more than eleven (11) universities, which are located in Australia, South Africa, Kenya, and Ghana, amongst other appointments.

Prof Odhiambo has supervised more than 33 postgraduate students at various levels. During the past +/- 7 years alone, he has produced fourteen (14) doctoral graduates, most of whom are now established researchers in their own right.

Prof Odhiambo has either presented papers or visited various institutions, including: 1) University of Tennessee (Knoxville, USA); 2) Texas Southern University (Houghton, USA); 3) Rice University (Houghton, USA); 4) University of Houston (Texas), 5) Catholic University (Kenya); 6) African Economic Research Consortium (AERC) – Nairobi; 7) OSSREA – Addis Ababa (Ethiopia); 8) Harvard University, Cambridge, Massachusetts (Conference); 9) University of London (Conference); and 10) University of Oxford (Conference), amongst other institutions.

On the tuition front, Prof Odhiambo has demonstrated exceptional academic leadership at various levels. Prof Odhiambo served as Head of the Economics Department at the University of Fort Hare for about six years, before joining UNISA in 2006. During his tenure at Fort Hare, Prof Odhiambo single-handedly developed a Postgraduate Diploma in Economics. He also spear-headed the re-configuration of both the undergraduate and postgraduate programmes at Fort Hare. More recently, he actively participated in the re-configuration of Economics honours' programme at the University of South Africa. He has over the years taught courses such as International Trade, International Economics, International Finance, Monetary Economics, Macroeconomics, Microeconomic and Applied Econometrics at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels.

Prof Odhiambo is currently working as Professor of Economics and Head of Macroeconomic Policy Analysis (MPA) research flagship programme at the University of South Africa (UNISA) – a programme which he single-handedly developed in 2012. Given the 10-year success of this programme under his leadership, the University is now planning to convert his MPA research programme into a fully-fledged research institute. He is also currently serving as the director of African Economic and Social Research Institute (AESRI), a virtual autonomous think-tank that he independently established in 2019, which is aimed at 1) upskilling the next generation of economics researchers; and 2) providing policy advise to policymakers on socio-economic challenges facing many countries through published working papers.
